

BLOODY SCENE
NEAR LISBONWorst Conflict Since Initial Revolutionary Outbreak

MONASTERY IS CAPTURED

King Manuel Was Formally Exiled Today by the New Republic of Portugal—He Is Reported to Have Suicided.

Lisbon, Oct. 8.—The formal exile was declared to-day of King Manuel, Queen Mother Amelia, the Duke of Oporto and Dowager Queen Maria Pia by the "republic of Portugal." The reports of Manuel's attempt at suicide have not been confirmed. President Braga of the new republic declared to-day that the situation in the provinces is very encouraging, and that there is little chance of a royalist movement against the capital. The royalists and clericals who are most active against the new government are to be executed. Many monasteries and convents, where immense wealth is stored, are to be confiscated.

One of the worst conflicts since the initial outbreak took place to-day at Queluz monastery, which was captured after a heavy artillery fight, in which several monks were killed. The fight was started by monks, who attacked a party of passing revolutionists in revenge for the bombardment of the monastery on Wednesday. A rifle fight ensued, and the monks were winning till the arrival of the artillery. A dozen were killed and scores were injured on both sides.

TEDDY ALWAYS BUSY.

Speech-Making In Order—Three Addresses Delivered To-day.

Rome, Ga., Oct. 8.—Theodore Roosevelt started his flying march through Georgia with talks to the Berry school for girls here to-day. He goes next to Dalton to-day, where he will be the guest of the chamber of commerce, and he will speak this afternoon at the auditorium. This evening he attends the "Uncle Remus" memorial meeting.

Sporting Notes.

Champion Jack Johnson, who recently acquired the auto craze, is to meet Barney Oldfield at the Sheepshead bay track October 20. It is rumored that Jack is tired of being a "champ" and wants to die.

The absence of Johnny Evers from the Chicago line-up may be felt during the world's series, but if Zimmerman finishes up the job as his successor in the manner that he started in, there is no telling what he may do.

It is said that Baltimore will soon have a new ball park with a grandstand for the accommodation of 15,000 people. The change is made necessary by the cutting of a street through the old Oriole park, now the property of Edward Hanlon.

The new football rules have been given a trial. At present it is hard to tell whether or not they will prove satisfactory. Experts express different opinions on the game as now played. It will require a view of one of the big games to reach a definite conclusion.

John J. McCauley, for years a star football man at Concord, N. H., high school, has matriculated at St. Anselm's college.

The Bellows Falls high school team will open its season on its own field next Saturday, when the eleven will line up against the Keene high school team.

Hal Chase has two great underdogs for the first sack in Harry Wolter and Jack Wright. Few teams are so well equipped in this respect.

Harvard is the first college to announce secret football practice this season.

The New York Americans and Mike Donohue's All-Stars will clash in New York next Sunday. A number of the big league teams are represented in Mike's line-up.

The Yankees and the Giants appear to be well matched in the coming post-season series. No walkover for either team is expected.

"Tex" Ramsdell is out of the hospital, and there is consequently much rejoicing at the university of Pennsylvania. Mike Murphy expects to have the intercollegiate sprint champion groomed for the Brown game.

Charlie Hickman closed the season at Toledo with a batting average of .311.

Denny Sullivan, the ex-Red Sox, has played 75 games in the field for Toledo without an error and hit for .258.

Nineteen out of every twenty experts pick the Cubs to win the world's championship, in spite of the injury to Evers. There is no doubt that Chicago has a great team, but the fact must not be overlooked that the American leaguers are strong and, in a sense, lucky.

Fred W. Woodcock has been reappointed baseball coach at Brown university.

Ad Volgast, lightweight champion of the world, may never fight again. An examination of the champion's left arm, which was broken in his fight at Pondus-Lac with McFarland last week, has been made. Physicians say that he will not be able to use the member for four months and perhaps never again in a hard fight.

Christy Mathewson says of Russ Ford, "Ford is a wonder. I never saw a better pitcher. He will make a lot of trouble for us in the coming series."

WAS IN 90TH YEAR.

William Weaver Died Yesterday In Barington.

Burlington, Oct. 8.—William Weaver died early yesterday morning at his home, 81 South Union street, in his 90th year, after a 10 days' illness with bronchial pneumonia. Previous to his last illness he had been in vigorous health. He was born April 20, 1821, near Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He was of Dutch ancestry, on both sides, and he married a daughter of the old Knickerbocker family of New York, Catherine Knickerbocker, who died three years ago. As a young man, he was employed in a mill in Albany. Since 1872 he has lived in this city, coming here originally as foreman of the old Bronsons, Weston, Dunham & Green mill, and later employed in the Shepard & Morse mill. He was married in 1843 and there were four children, two of whom survive, W. W. and H. K. Weaver, both of Somerville, Mass. Mr. Weaver was an active member of the Methodist church, for many years being on the official board of stewards. The funeral will be held at his late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with interment in Lake View cemetery.

KEEP ON A-BOILING IT

Says State Medical Official to Rutland Water Users.

Rutland, Oct. 8.—Dr. C. F. Ball, city health officer, has received the following letter from Dr. B. H. Stone, head of the state laboratory at Burlington: "In reference to your inquiry regarding my opinion of the advisability of letting up on the advice to users of Rutland water, to boil the water, I beg to say that I am firmly convinced that it would be extremely unwise to do away with this practice at present. While without doubt the bleach method of purification employed on your water is now lessening the danger from typhoid fever very materially, this method is at best an emergency procedure. It is still true that occasional samples show presence of sewage bacteria. While this is so and while you still have cases of typhoid fever occurring in your city, I should certainly consider it highly imprudent to cease adding water for domestic purposes to be boiled."

The girls were on their way home from this place, where they attended school. The machine passed them at a rapid rate of speed near the Frank Norton house.

The horse ran to the state line bridge, where the girls were both thrown out. One of them was badly shaken up and bruised and the other struck head first against the corner of the bridge, cutting open her head so that 12 stitches were necessary to close the wound. It was expected that both will recover.

COMMITTEE IS IN SESSION

Congressman Foss and Attorney Pelletier Are Said to Be Eliminated from Consideration—Decision
Next Week.

Boston, Oct. 8.—The Democratic nominating committee, which was authorized by the state convention, met here to-day and is considering the names of candidates for governor and lieutenant-governor. It is announced that Congressman Foss and attorney Pelletier are said to be eliminated from consideration—Decision next week.

One of the surprising developments in the fact that time for filing convention nominations for state officers did not expire at 5:30 p. m. yesterday, as was stated in the convention. One of the principal reasons advanced for selecting a compromise candidate was the claim that unless nominations were filed by 5:30 p. m. yesterday they would not appear on the ballot for the November election. At the office of the secretary of state it was said that the time for filing nominations does not expire until Monday, October 10.

Although the following was printed in the regular news columns of the Burlington Free Press this morning, it might more appropriately have been set in the joke column:

"The fever has taken hold in Barre and the stoneheads will close early to-day and remain closed all day Monday, so that the stonecutters may come into town to stay over Sunday."

CUT UP AND LOCKED UP.

Joseph Alexander Had a Hard Time of
It Altogether.

It is said that Alexander was intoxicated and was returning home, when he was attacked by a gang of men. Later he went to the police office in Winooski and lodged complaint against his assailants. Alexander was arrested for intoxication and after his wounds had been dressed was brought to this city and lodged in the Chittenden county jail. He will probably be arraigned in city court this morning. His head and face are brutally cut and bruised. The police are looking for the unknown persons who committed the assault.

Case of John S. Wilkins, Adm., vs. W. W.
Brook and L. K. Roselle.

Burlington, Oct. 8.—Chittenden county court took a recess yesterday until nine o'clock Tuesday morning, no business being transacted. The bottom seems to be dropping out of the jury tandem. The case of John S. Wilkins, administrator vs. W. W. Brook and L. K. Roselle, which was expected would be tried again this term has been continued, also the cases of Maurice D. Sullivan, apt., vs. George Sullivan, administrator of the estate of Patrick Sullivan and Patrick Sullivan, apt., vs. George Sullivan, administrator of the estate of Patrick Sullivan.

Now In the Flower Garden.

It is not too late to plant peonies, but new plantations should be made at once. Old plants which are too large to flower well should be dug up and separated. If the work is done now, they will flower next year.

Dig up dahlia bulbs, dry them off and store them. Be sure to mark carefully all the varieties, so that there will be no difficulty in identifying them next spring.

Gladiti and tuberose bulbs must also be housed. After digging the bulbs, let them lie a day or two until dry; then remove the tops and store the bulbs in a cool but frost-proof place.

Canna bulbs must be brought in before they are injured by frost. Store them where it is cool, where they will not be forced into growth in early spring.

Suburban Life for October.

HONORED ON ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trombley Were Married 50 Years Ago.

Burlington, Oct. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trombley of 11 Crombie street, complete a half century of married life to-day and the golden anniversary was observed last evening by a family gathering. A liberal purse of gold was given the aged couple.

Mr. Trombley was born in Henryville, P. Q., May 15, 1835, and Mrs. Trombley, 10 years his junior, was born in Hinesburg 65 years ago. They were married in this city October 8, 1860, the ceremony being performed in the old St. Joseph church by the late Most Rev. Bishop of Burlington.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Trombley are Mrs. A. B. Rupert, George E. Trombley and Minnie A. Trombley, all of this city. Louis F. Trombley and Henry A. Trombley, two sons, have lately died.

Last evening the anniversary was quietly observed at their home by a gathering of the children and grandchildren. The parlors were tastefully decorated with cut flowers and plants, the color scheme being gold, as appropriate to the occasion. The presentation of the purse was made by Mrs. George Carpenter. The party was a complete surprise to the aged couple.

NOT KNOWN HERE

That Stoneheads Will Shut Down for Ball Game.

Although the following was printed in the regular news columns of the Burlington Free Press this morning, it might more appropriately have been set in the joke column:

"The fever has taken hold in Barre and the stoneheads will close early to-day and remain closed all day Monday, so that the stonecutters may come into town to stay over Sunday."

The fever referred to is the baseball game to be played in Burlington on Monday between two teams picked from the Boston Red Sox and contained by two Vermont boys, Ray Collins and Larry Gardner. So far as known no stoneheads here will be shut down and the story must be credited to a flighty imagination of the advance agent.

SENSATION
IN RUTLANDIn Suit Against L. H. McIntire,
Prominent Citizen

BY RUTLAND GAS COMPANY

Plaintiff Claims That Mr. McIntire Has Been Getting Gas for Two Years
Which Was Not Registered on Meter.

Rutland, Oct. 8.—Lucien H. McIntire, a prominent citizen and business man, has been sued in trover by the Rutland Railway Light and Power company, claiming $1,000 and alleging that the defendant tapped a gas pipe, the property of the plaintiff, which was situated in the defendant's residence on Center street, also that he took a meter belonging to the company. The case is returnable at the March term of county court.

The writ alleges that the defendant in the case tapped one of their gas pipes in the cellar of his home and by means of rubber hose carried it around the meter into the outlet pipe, thus getting the benefit of the company's produce without having it registered. This the company claim has been going on for over two years and the discovery was made by an inspector, who reported to the office. Several officials of the company went to the house unknown to the owner and investigated.

One of the officials of the company said that several months ago the company missed a gas meter. No trace of it could be found and the matter drifted along, but a continued search on the part of the employees of the gas department failed to discover its whereabouts. During this time the various inspectors about the city noticed that the readings on the meter at the McIntire house were exceedingly low for the size of the house. Three different inspectors had read the meter during this period. Finally an inspector dropped into the house and discovered a reading of more than $100 worth of gas. The number of the meter was taken as is always the case, and at the office it was discovered that the number was not the same as was generally read on the McIntire meter and further investigation showed that this number corresponded with the meter which had been lost for several months. The other meter has never showed up and it is claimed that Mr. McIntire has this in his possession.

"We believe that he used to install the original meter, which was at first supposed to be lost, about the last of every month," said the officials, "and thus escape paying the bill. When the trick was discovered he made way with the other meter."

Thus going to the house September 26, when evidence was secured on the tapping case, included several of the officials of the company and deputy sheriff Whitaker. They claim the rubber pipe was found in place and beside the meter were found two plugs, which were used about the first of the month, while the reading was being taken and the hose removed. The gas coming through the inlet pipe would follow the least resistance and in this way escaped going through the meter. Mr. McIntire is one of the most prominent citizens of Rutland, being at one time a prominent politician and holding an aldermanic office.

GET CHEATED SOMETIMES

But United States Generally Gains by Its Present Immigration Policy.

In addressing the Woman's club of Montpelier at the Kellogg-Hubbard library last evening, United States Senator W. P. Dillingham, who is chairman of the national commission to study immigration, defended the present immigration policy of the United States, saying that while we get cheated sometimes, yet the general result is good. He said it was the policy of the nation to admit only those who are sound in body, mind and morals.

Senator Dillingham depreciated the work of unprincipled magazines of a purely commercial type which depend oftentimes on sensational articles to get large circulations. He said those magazines had been presenting the unfavorable side of the immigration problem.

The speaker then went on to tell of the statistical side of the immigration question, saying that since the Civil war period, the United States has received 2,000,000 of immigrants, and he told of the wonderful development of the nation since that time and of the part which the immigrants played in the work. He said the law of supply and demand controls the flow of immigration as it controls other conditions of living.

Both pleaded guilty to first offenses. Johnson was fined a total of $11.00, which he was unable to pay, and went to the county jail for ten days. Davidson was assessed $10.89, which he thought he would be able to pay. Davidson said he was only 18 years of age and was required to disclose where he got the liquor with which he became intoxicated. He claimed he met a man on the railroad tracks about 9:30 o'clock last evening, who had a pint of whiskey and treated him, the two of them drinking the pint. He said he did not know the man's name, but had met him at the Northfield fair and drank there with him.

STUDIED ROADS AND SCENERY.

Washington County Legislators and Guests Put in Profitable Day.

The good roads tour of Washington county legislators, with invited guests, turned out to be most profitable, the threatening weather of the morning clearing and permitting the sixteen auto loads of men to put in a busy and interesting day. The trip took about two hours each way, leaving Montpelier about 9 o'clock in the morning and returning there at 4 in the afternoon. The party went through Williamstown gulf to Bethel and had dinner, then returning through Randolph, Randolph Center and Berlin.

Road commissioners of the different towns through which the party passed were on hand to exchange ideas and the roads were found in excellent condition. As auto drivers, some objection was raised to so many water bars on the hills, but, as in all matters, there are two sides to this question. Aside from this, there was no criticism of the roads, except of their narrowness in places. Of the whole trip, the road through Williamstown was the best and it is understood that the road commissioner there is 75 years of age. On much of the route, the soil was of clay, making a firm roadbed. The whole trip was given over to the discussion of the good roads problem, nothing being allowed to interfere with the subject in hand and much valuable data was obtained. Judging by the conversation of Governor Mead, he will be a strong advocate of road improvement.

The stop in Bethel was taken advantage of in calling on A. P. Hutton, aged 95 years, who was formerly a speaker of the House, and in visiting the church at Bethel, Gilead, where Salmon P. Chase, treasurer of the United States during the Civil war, used to attend service. The Hibbard place, one of the original Morgan horse farms, was also pointed out to the party.

The most beautiful part of the trip was over the hills in Orange county, where the scenery of the mountains beyond was grand. All acknowledged that the trip had been worth while and its benefits will probably be worked out in later legislation.
